

KNOW WHAT YOU ARE EATING

We believe that we have a responsibility to help our guests understand where their food comes from, and why the choices made along the way matter. Our Circle of Responsibility (COR) labels help guests identify foods that are vegetarian, vegan, locally sourced, kosher, halal, or contain nuts.

NUTS: All items in our cafés are clearly marked when containing nuts. Our chefs have removed a variety of nuts from our campus menus. If you need information about a specific item, please inquire with a manager or café chef.

VEGAN and VEGETARIAN: Seeking vegetarian or vegan options? Look for these labels on menu boards that designate items that are vegan or vegetarian. All of our dining locations offer a variety of both vegetarian and vegan options.

KOSHER: This kosher label is used on menus and signage to denote foods that have been prepared in a certified kosher kitchen. Our kosher items are prepared and served under rabbinic supervision from the Vaad Hoer of St. Louis. Hot meals are served at L'Chaim, located in the Bear's Den. Fresh kosher Grab & Go meals are available daily in Dining Services campus cafés and markets.

HALAL: All meals served at the WUrld Fusion station in the Bear's Den are prepared under halal guidelines. Halal Grab & Go meals are also available in Dining Services campus cafés and markets. Look for the halal label on packaging and menu boards to denote the item has been certified as halal.

Questions about nutritional values?

Visit menus.wustl.edu